BEN BUTLER.—The Washington Evening Star says editorially: "General Butler is in Washington overflowing with vitality, pugnacity, deviltry, versatility, subtlety and all the other forces, powers and capabilities that go to make him the most conspicuous man in the country." He will let off a little surplus steam in some cases he has before the Supreme Court, but will have a full head on when Congress meets, as any small craft that comes fooling around in his track will find to their cost."

W. G. Adair is to take charge of the O. & C. R. R. Co.'s telegraph office at Salem, vice Mr. [illegible], who comes to East Portland.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL QUESTION.

THE ST. LOUIS CONVENTION OF IRISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES ON OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS—SOME SIGNIFICANT AND SOME SENSIBLE WORDS.

From the proceedings of the Convention of Irish Benevolent Societies, held in St. Louis, October 17th, as reported in the Chicago Times, we take the following extracts:

The report of the committee on resolutions was presented:

Resolved, That the present deplorable attitude of the Government toward religion and religious institutions is the result of the abandonment of the true, necessary, and saving principles conditioned of God and the expression of His holy will.

Resolved, That the conduct of Governments and rulers in permitting the dethronement of the Pope and the absorption of his dominion by the kingdom of Italy, is a flagrant injustice to Rome and the whole Catholic world, a crime against truth, social stability, and legitimate authority; that in the present imprisonment of the sovereign Pontiff we behold the consummation of a hellish conspiracy, whose offspring will some day return to torment their authors, and that to the venerable Pope in his ravished city of St. Peter, we extend our profoundest sympathy, joined with the wish and prayer that he may live to see his crown and kingdom once more wrested from the grasp of the despoiler.

Resolved, That we hereby enter our solemn protest against the unjust prosecution inaugurated against our mother church by the Government of Prussia, and offer to the German Archbishops and Bishops, as well as to the German Catholic clergy, the male and female religious, the assistance of our best sympathy.

Resolved, That, morality grounded on religion and religion grounded on fixed and dogmatic principles, are the just guide, and furnish the support of man in all the circumstances and situations, of this life; that sobriety in conduct, honesty in intercourse, and truth in everything will prove the greatest safeguard against individual demoralization and national degeneracy.

Resolved, That secret societies and other dangerous associations of men untaught in the principles of religion, and bent through tortuous ways on purely material ends, are subversive of social order, and fatal to the faith as they are destructive of the morality of Catholics.

Resolved, That a Catholic cannot be true to his country if he be false to his Church, or faithful in his duties to secrecy and his fellowman, if he be a stranger to the sacraments and recreant to his God.

Resolved, That the best interests of the state and society center in the education of the young, and that education to be effective of good and conducive of social and national advantages, must be Christian, begin with the catechism, and end with the knowledge that God is our God, and heaven the reward of virtuous deeds and holy lives.

Resolved, That the present system of public schools, ignoring all supernatural authority, and making God, the first knowledge, the last thing to be learned, is a curse to our country, and a flood-gate of atheism and of sensuality, of civil, social, and national corruption.

A spirited and somewhat acrimonious debate ensued on the last resolution. Mr. Reily, of Virginia, thought the resolution should be recommitted to the committee, with instructions to modify. He was, by virtue of his office as Mayor of Richmond, President of the Board of Schools. He had been elected Mayor by a constituency of which about 80 per cent. were Protestant. The Bible was not read in the schools at Richmond, and he had assurances of the Board that no religious instructions were taught in them. He was not in sympathy with the resolution, nor could he vote for it without stultifying himself, which he did not propose to do. Father Phelan, of St. Louis, defended the resolution and he said: We have nothing to do with Richmond or its schools. If religious instruction was excluded from them, as Mr. Reily said, then they were the most objectionable of all schools. The public men of America were educated in the public schools, and were exhibitions of the system, and they were the most corrupt and dishonest of any country in the world. Men can steal in this country with impunity, providing the amount is large enough. That the children of the country go head over heels to the devil must be attributed to the education they receive in the public schools, which does not fit them for the temptations of the world. In these schools men of science are honored and eulogized, but the name of "Jesus Christ" is not allowed to be mentioned with reverence. These children turn out to be learned horse-thieves, scholarly counterfeiters, and well posted in all the schemes of deviltry. Father Phelan said that the more complete the schools, the more intolerable they were. He was very condemnatory of the public schools, and extremely radical in his views. He said the schools graduated thieves, scoundrels and members of Congress; they brought forth scientists and atheists.

Mr. Hardy, of Pennsylvania, denounced the resolution. It contemplated a union of church and state.

President Dwyer said the resolution meant no such thing, and he didn't wish such an impression to get abroad. He advised that the resolution be changed so as to simply favor Catholic schools.

Mr. Hardy proceeded, and said that the Catholics had gained a great victory in driving the Bible from the public school.

Father Graham, interruptingly, said: "The church did not drive the Bible out of the schools. The purpose was to put in the correct version and the Catholic Catechism."

Mr. Hardy—Exactly. Now, I ask you, is it just or right that we should introduce our Catholic Catechism among Protestants, when we will not allow Protestants, who are greatly in the majority, to use the Bible in the public schools.

Father Phelan again spoke on the subject, and characterized the schools as a place where Catholic children went with white gowns, as it were, and at the end of a year came back with blackened garments and blacker hearts. The taxes are an outrage which has been protested against time and again.

Mr. Fay, of Philadelphia, entered a vigorous protest, and said Father Phelan's remarks denunciatory of the public schools was an insult to himself, his brothers and sisters, and his neighbors.

Mr. Chance, of Delaware, thought this was a fling in the wrong direction. They might favor Catholic schools, but they should not denounce Protestant schools.

Father Butler, of Kansas, spoke to the same effect. While he didn't like to differ from his brother clergyman, Father Phelan, he thought the resolution went too far. It should not be forgotten that the public schools of this country had served as a model for the Catholic parochial schools, and in that respect had done good. The main difference between them was one of religion only.

Father Phelan again spoke. He said he thought the delegates from the east had not studied the case enough. He frankly confessed that Catholics stood before the country as enemies of the public schools, and the reasons therefor should be stated. He considered that these reasons were embodied in the resolution. They must say they would as soon send their children into a pest-house or bury them as to let them go the public schools. They were afraid they would lose faith. They were afraid the child who left home in the morning would come back with something in its heart as black as hell.

Father Mongin said: "The public school system is a nuisance. The words in the resolution are none too strong."

Mr. Chance moved to recommit the resolution, with instructions, to report one favoring Catholic schools, which was carried by about a two-third vote.

Father Phelan, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following resolution as a substitute for the last one of the series reported by the Committee:

Resolved*, That the system of State education now established in most of the States, by its failure to provide proper religious instruction for the young, and its enlightening the head to the entire neglect of the heart-culture, meets our unqualified reprehension; that it unjustly taxes a large class of our people who cannot, without danger to the faith and morality of their offspring, avail themselves of its advantages.

The resolution was adopted unanimously.

"HAZING."

THE DEATH OF MORTIMER M. LEGGETT.—EVIDENCE OF TWO OF THE "HAZERS."

From the report of the inquest in the matter of the death of Mortimer M. Leggett, the student of Cornell University who was killed Oct. 10th, by falling from a precipice on Six-Mile creek, we condense the annexed. The jury was disposed to attribute the sad affair to the shameful practice of "hazing," but they were otherwise persuaded. Chas. W. Wason testified as follows:

Am a student of Cornell University, and member of the Class of '76; am also a member of the K. A. Society; was well acquainted with the deceased, having known him since his entrance into the University; the first time I saw him on the night of the accident was at my room, at Miss Dudgeon's, about 7:45 P. M.; when deceased came to my room I was not dressed; left him to dress; then we came to this house, he going to the dining room in order to dress; from this time I did not see him again till within a few moments of his death; I left this house at about 9:10 o'clock P. M. in company with W. P. Sturges, in order to meet the others at the appointed rendezvous on the hill; when we reached the hill, there were a number of the boys, three I think, standing at the corner of the fence, and a number of them were over the fence; I do not know how many of them were there at the time; we were waiting for others to come; I got over the fence, and going up to Leggett, who was standing with two or three of the boys, took his arm in mine and walked down to a large tree; was not leaning against the tree; I then had some conversation with some of the boys; he (Leggett) then stepped a little to the right and behind me, and then leaned against the tree; I had charge of him at this time, and stood within reaching distance of him; I do not know how long I stood there, but I saw him incline to one side, and as I stepped forward to assist him, I put my foot upon what I supposed to be a limb; it slipped, I fell, and that is the last I remember; I did not succeed in touching or catching him, as I intended. When I struck the ground I tried to halloo, but failed; I rolled over a few times, voluntary or involuntary, I know not which; after that I heard two distinct thuds, and then I knew there were others with me; I was not insensible after striking the ground, only while gaining my breath; Leggett was not brought down in the carriage with Lee and myself; I did not know the nature of the ground at all; had not the slightest idea that there was a precipice there; when I was initiated I was blindfolded; I know the ground over which I was taken, for I have since found out; no accident has ever occurred to my knowledge; if we had known anything of the nature of the ground, we should not have gone there; being on a level, as we supposed, we thought it unnecessary to hold him; the ceremonies of the society are very impressive; I was taken up first, Lee second, and Leggett third; none of the party had been drinking, to my knowledge.

From the statement of C. H. Lee and others it appears that the deceased was blindfolded by an arrangement which buckled over the eyes, and was not in any way pinioned. The party had gone to this place in order to escape public observation, and to wait for others of the society. Mr. Wason had charge of Leggett, as he was the most intimate with him. When a candidate is blindfolded in the way described, two strong members of the society are placed beside him, one on each side, in order to prevent him stumbling or falling. There is no attempt ever made to intimidate the candidates, as has been rumored. Leggett was standing by a large tree on the brink of the precipice, which was not noticed by any of the party, as the shadows which were thrown by the trees on the opposite bank of the ravine, looked like brushwood or low bushes. Leggett slipped, and Wason, in trying to aid him, pitched off into the gulf below. Leggett continued falling, and Lee, seeing this, ran forward to save him, and fell over the bank. Leggett was found lying on his left side, his face up. His hands were bruised as though they had been dragged along the ground, while his nose was bruised very badly from the blow received in falling.

The jury found that Mortimer M. Legget, a student of Cornell University, on the night of October 10, 1873, and between the hours of 9, and 10, came to his death by accidentally falling from a cliff on the south side of Six-mile Creek, in the village of Ithaca, in the county of Tompkins, New York.

A Washington dispatch of the 10th inst. says:

There is much feeling on the subject here, where the young man was well known and very popular. He had been admitted to the bar, and was a boy of great promise. His head and body were so mangled and disfigured that he could not have been recognized. His remains arrived here last night.

THE TERRITORIES.

The "Mansion in the skies" is what they term the signal officers' house on the top of Pike's Peak.

The Register announces, ahead of all contemporaries, that Tom Nast, the artist, is coming to Colorado next May.

Utah is importing much fine stock and sheep from Eastern marts. There are in the Territory now, some 250,000 head of sheep.

The railroad hands on the Northern Pacific in Washington Territory, are now being paid off and cash is plenty about Tacoma.

The Olympia Choral Society, numbering twenty-five members, is making preparations for a concert, to take place about Thanksgiving.

A general court-martial, of which Lieut.-Colonel J. H. Bradley, Ninth United States Infantry, is President, is in session at Fort Russell.

Col. E. C. Kimball, Inspector of Indian Affairs, has completed his official inspection of the reserves down the Sound and returned to Olympia.

Two men who have just returned from down the Kansas Pacific, assert that they have killed and skinned four hundred buffalo on two small creeks not twenty miles long.

We have received from Fort Union, New Mexico, a little sheet called the Regimental Flag. It is quite a gossipy sheet, and is published by the soldiers at that post.

While a hearse was going to receive a dead body at Olympia last Tuesday, the horses became frightened and ran away, smashing the hearse to pieces and badly injuring the horses.

The Deseret Telegraph Company's lines connect all the principal cities, towns and camps of Utah, and penetrate southeastern Nevada, and northern Arizona and southern Idaho.

Far Western papers, as a rule, spare neither age nor sex when a joke is wanted. For instance, a journal says: "Our County Clerk can boast of a wife with the biggest feet and longest nose of any female in the Territory."

The Cheyenne Leader of a late date scintillated as follows: "If it persists in snowing every night, it may be some time before we see the last of it." That's where you are level, old fellow. If it never quits snowing it never will.

The assessed valuation of property in Boulder county, Colorado, for 1873, is $2,083,523. The number of acres of improved land, 73,911, worth $928,722. There are 3,697 horses in the county, 10,305 cattle, 1,208 sheep, and 339 swine.

Mrs. Sarah Wilber, of Greeley, was the only delegate of her sex to the Irrigating Convention at Denver. Mrs. W. is the same lady who planted a crop of wheat last spring, and grasshoppers ate up the same wheat that she planted.

The Territorial Woman Suffrage Association will hold an annual meeting in Olympia, Nov. 4th, 5th and 6th. As there will be important business before the Association, it is hoped there will be a full attendance of its members, and also friends of the cause.

We learn that Mr. Kirk C. Ward, of Seattle, has received the appointment of Lighthouse Keeper at Tatoosh Island, W. T. The recipient is worthy the appointment, and will doubtless be an efficient officer and "let his light shine." He has already gone to assume the position.

The Tacoma Tribune says: "At Rigney's farm on the line of the railroad is a pile of railroad ties ten feet high and over three hundred yards long. The ties are laid to that point, and from there to the dock in Tacoma; construction trains will deliver the remainder where wanted."

A Mormon Bishop names Musser, writing on the resources and crops of Utah, says: "In no one direction have the citizens of Utah been more successful than in the natural and sorely neglected science of stirpiculture. I am proud to state that our estimated product in the year 1872 was 10,000 souls."

The Chicago Times says: The attempt to secure irrigation for the western plains, instead of being made by the Federal Government, should be entrusted to our railway presidents. The desert of Colorado can be readily dampened by the genius that has watered the stock of the New York Central."

Four large cougars were killed near Arcadia, Mason county, W. T., last week. One young gentleman was pursued by one of these brutes a quarter of a mile, but succeeded in getting shelter in an old house, where he remained till the cougar left. Then, imbued with an intense longing for home, he made rapid time toward the parental roof.

The Tacoma Tribune says: "A meeting was held at La Conner, on Saturday last, and the names of H. A. March, Wm. Dean and James F. Darcy, for County Commissioners, were enrolled in the bill which will be presented to the Legislature at its present session, asking that a portion of Whatcom county be set off as a separate county to be called Skagit."

There are seven woolen and one woolen and cotton factories doing a successful business in Utah. One of the seven has 2,500 spindles, and has been built and machinery set going at a cost approximating $300,000. This one and two others are built and run on the co-operative principle. Every person who so desired took stock in them. The grist and saw-mills number in the neighborhood of two hundred.

The French bark Concordia made the run from Tacoma to Callao in 62 days, one day less than the Dashing Wave, also from the same place, and the quickest ever made by any vessel to that port from the Sound. When coming for her cargo on the occasion of that trip the Concordia was 63 days from San Francisco about the longest time ever taken by any ship for that voyage. San Francisco is 300 miles distant and Callao 8,000.

A convention of all the invalids in Colorado is to be held in a few weeks. The object is, by a comparison of experiences, to evolve conclusions respecting Colorado as a sanitarium, and to spread the information before the world. The object is good enough, but a convention of invalids, wheezing like a blacksmith's leaky bellows, or rasping with intractable throat-ails is too suggestive of metalic caskets, obsequies, obituaries, etc., to be altogether pleasant.

A correspondent from Semiahmoo, Whatcom county, W. T., says: "It may not be generally known that our city is one of the prettiest in the Northwest, but it is nevertheless a fact. People who desire a beautiful dwelling place can be suited here, and a more delightful view on all sides, cannot be found. Besides, a lot will be given to any one who will build a good house on it, and a good title will be secured to said lot or lots; those wishing to buy lots can get them cheap for cash. Now, we hope some of our good citizens will give us a call. Come and look at our country, and satisfy yourselves. As to the agricultural portion of this county, we have the best and largest in the Territory. Good roads are now being made to all the important settlements in this locality. Our neighbors across the boundary line deserve great credit for their enterprise in constructing a good wagon road from New Westminster to this small but flourishing city. Mr. Brown, of Westminster, intends to put on a line of coaches which will run from his place to Semiahmoo City.

The cattle and sheep war in Huerfano county, Colorado, presents some worse features than have yet been published. The principal trouble seems to be in the valleys of Greenhorn and Apache creeks, from 30 to 45 miles south of Denver. It is said the cattle men in that neighborhood are all leagued together, and that some other citizens, not directly interested in cattle, are banded with them. They have sworn to drive all the sheep herds out of the valleys and off the range of the streams named, and to pay no damages for the destruction of crops by cattle. Three sheep herds have already left. D. A. Robinson moved his to the divide; Mr. Todhunter moved to Red river, New Mexico, and Mr. Fletcher sold out. Mr. Todhunter's herd was raided, about 100 sheep killed and the rest scattered. The wolves got among the latter whilst separated, and killed about 100 more. Todhunter procured the arrest of a man named Montgomery, who led in the onslaught, and he had an examination before an officer interested in the cattle business, who bound him over in the nominal sum of $500. A man who said he could name three of the Montgomery gang, was offered $200 to do so. He refused, saying that if he did it his life would not be worth a cent.

OREGON.

The Jacksonville Sentinel man thinks he has a dead thing on "wood thieves." He has no wood to steal.

The fall term of the Circuit Court for Josephine county, Judge Prim presiding, convened at Kirbyville last Monday.

An elopement from the classic regions of Champoeg, in Marion county, is related in the Statesman. The parties were a Miss Hunt and a Mr. Riley. They were hotly pursued, and are now luxuriating in hymenial bowers.

Dr. Dawne informs the Statesman of the flourishing condition of the Agricultural College at Corvallis. There are between 275 and 300 students there at the present time. The prospects of the College were never better.

Immigration to the Goose Lake country has not been near so large as had been anticipated, the war having deterred many from going there who had written to their friends last fall that they intended to come this season. There is nothing now in that whole region to cause alarm.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Biennial Session.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

MORNING SESSION.

OLYMPIA, Oct. 28, 1873.

House opened at the usual hour.

A communication was read from the Secretary of the Territory stating that Mr. Elwood Evans' office was at the disposal of the Legislature as a committee room.

The House then resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole for the purpose of resuming consideration of H. B. No. 47, in relation to Justices of the Peace, Mr. Van Vleet in the chair. After considering for an hour the committee rose and recommended the adoption of the amendments as proposed, and asked to be discharged from further consideration of the bill, which, being agreed to, the act, with amendments, was read by the Clerk and passed.

The following bills were then introduced:

H. B. No. 90, by Mr. Clymer—To authorize King and other counties to vote aid to Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad and Transportation Company. Referred to Committee on Corporations.

H. B. No. 91, by Mr. Gile—An act in regard to ballast.

H. B. No. 92—To amend an act in relation to incorporating the city of Walla Walla. Referred to Select Committee.

H. B. No. 93—Act in relation to County Assessors.

H. B. No. 94—Act in relation to Territorial Treasurer.

H. B. No. 95—Act in relation to Sheriffs.

H. B. No. 96—Act in relation to Territorial Auditor.

H. B. No. 97—Act in relation to Coroners.

H. B. No. 98—Act in relation to County Surveyors.

H. B. No. 99, by Mr. Rogers To amend an act for the support of the poor. Referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Memorial of Mr. Eldridge for increase of mail service between Seattle and Bellingham Bay, was referred to Committee on Federal Relations.

H. B. No. 100, by Mr. Rogers Act regulating taxes on railroads; which provides for exempting railroads from taxation in Washington Territory where they have not received donations for the term of five years. Referred to Committee on Ways and Means.

The following engrossed bills were read a third time and passed:

H. B. No. 78—Act for relief of late Sheriff of Walla Walla county.

H. B. No. 85—Act to locate a Territorial road.

A message was then received from the Council that that body was in readiness to meet the House in Joint Convention for the purpose of electing Territorial officers.

The House being placed in [illegible] the Council was received within the bar, President McLane taking the Chair.

The following members were the only ones absent: Messrs. Wood and Bryant.

The Chair having announced that nominations for Auditor were now in order, Mr. John M. Murphy, of the Washington Standard, and Captain B. B. Tuttle were placed in nomination.

Those voting for Mr. Murphy were:

Messrs. Foster, Montgomery, Shaw, Stine, McLane, in the Council; and Messrs. Abbott, Bush, Brazee, Cook, Cline, Crockett, Clark of Pierce, Gosnell, Harriman, Henry, Hodges, Judson, Lacy, Ping, R[illegible]all, Rogers, Van Vleet, Ward, Yantis, Caton. Total 25.

Those voting for Captain Tuttle were:

Messrs. Cranney, Smith, Wallace, in the Council; and Messrs. Burke, Clark of Clarke, Clymer, Eldridge, Favorite, Gile, Hovey, Kuhn and Moore in the House. Total—12.

Mr. J. M. Murphy having received the largest number of votes cast was declared Territorial Auditor.

For the office of Treasurer, Messrs. E. T. Gunn, of the Olympia Transcript, and J. H. Munson, of the Echo, were placed in nomination, with the following result: For Mr. Gunn—Messrs. Foster, Montgomery, Shaw, Stine, McLane, Abbott, Bush, Brazee, Cook, Cline, Crockett, Clark of Pierce, Gosnell, Harriman, Henry, Hodges, Judson, Kuhn, Lacy, Ping, Russell, Rodgers, Van Vleet, Ward, Yantis, Caton. Total—26.

For Mr. Munson—Cranney, Smith, Wallace, Burke, Clark of Clarke, Clymer, Eldridge, Favorite, Gile, Hovey, Moore. Total—11.

Mr. Gunn having received the largest vote was declared Treasurer.

For the office of Territorial Librarian, there were two nominations, Mr. Yantis, a member of the House, and I. V. Mossman. The vote was as follows: For. Mr. Yantis, 26 for Mr. Mossman, 10.

Mr. Yantis having received the largest vote was declared elected.

The election of School Superintendent being next in order, Mr. J. P. Judson and Rev. J. R. Thompson were nominated, after which Mr. Thompson received 10 votes, and Mr. Judson 26, and the latter was declared elected.

The following are the names of the Regents elected for the Territorial University: Messrs. E. M. Smithers, H. A. Atkins, J. T. Jordan, A. A. Denny, and Beriah Brown.

The following officers were declared elected by acclamation: Edward Shiel, of Walla Walla, Brigadier General; Frank Gutt[illegible], of Walla Walla, Adjutant General; S. A. Wilson, of Mason county, Commissary General; George F. Thomas, of Walla Walla, Quartermaster General.

This ended the election of Territorial officers, after which the Council retired, and the House adjourned to 2:30 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

House called to order at 2:30 P. M.

H. B. No. 80, in relation to Justices of the Peace and proceedings in criminal cases, with amendments, taken up and discussed and passed after a third reading.

C. J. resolution No. 4, relative to Legislature taking a recess from to-day until Monday, November 4th, read third time and passed.

Proposed amendments, submitted by the Committee on Education, relative to the school law, were then discussed singly, as contained in H. B. No. 89. As the school law is one of the greatest importance in this Territory, I herewith give you the amendments to the law of 1871, as adopted by the House to-day In chapter 2 section 2, "four mills" is struck out, and "not less than three or more than six" substituted. In the same section, after the words "school teachers" is inserted, "and incidental expenses." In chapter 4 section 6, the following was added: "It shall be the duty of the Clerk of each School District to collect all District taxes, which he shall be required by the warrant from the Directors to collect, and he shall have the same authority as the County Collector to enforce the collection of such tax, and he shall return his delinquent tax list at the time specified in said warrant, and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Directors to issue a warrant to their respective Clerks to collect all taxes, hereafter returned delinquent, by distress, and he shall have the same authority to enforce the collection of such delinquent taxes as he has for the collection of taxes by the original warrant, and he shall be allowed for collecting said delinquent taxes such per centage as the Directors may deem proper." Section 13 of chapter 4 will now read, "And shall receive such compensation for their services as the Directors of the District shall deem reasonable." In chapter 4 section 17, the word "seventy-two" is struck out, and "sixty-six" inserted. Section 4 of chapter 5 is struck out, and the following inserted: "District meetings shall have power to levy a tax of fifteen mills on a dollar for the purpose of building and repairing school houses," and provides for levying not more than one special tax in the year. Section 22 of chapter 5 was struck out. Chapter six repealed. The bill was then ordered engrossed.

The Chairman of the Judiciary Committee (Clark, of Pierce,) was called on by Mr. Yantis to report on divorce bill, referred to that Committee on the 4th inst., and excused himself on the grounds of having had considerable whipping-in to do prior to the election of Territorial officers.

It was moved to adjourn. [illegible]

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 30, 1873.

A SHAMEFUL CUSTOM.

The custom known as "hazing," which has for years prevailed in the Freshman classes of Eastern Colleges, is now in a fair way to be abolished. That its indecencies and cruelties should so long have been encouraged, rather than discountenanced, by Faculties and Corporation Boards has always been to us a matter of profoundest surprise and regret. In more cases than one the candidate has been a youth of nerve and spunk, and in every such instance serious results have followed the attempt to subject him to the ancient routine. We do not remember, moreover, that any decided effort has been made by College authorities to prevent what has too frequently degenerated from a harmless pastime, devoid of violence, into an outrage and an offence against private rights. It may be urged by such lenient advocates of this scandalous practice as may revere it on the ground of its antiquity solely, that the sport is a harmless one; that College boys must have their fun, and that the milk and water youth who will complain of his rigorous discipline isn't fit to be associated with the spirited young hoodlums who [illegible] to the practice. These unreasonable advocates forget what we have already hinted at: that in several instances, at Harvard and at Yale, where some lion-hearted "[illegible]" have resisted the "hazers," grave personal difficulties and bloody fracases have followed. This custom of "hazing," as well as the annual "[illegible]" for sophomore canes and hats, is getting to be pretty well understood as a species of hoodlumism which ought not to be tolerated in any institution of learning where a decent standard of manhood is taught and observed.

[illegible] are encouraging signs that "hazing" and the "rush" and all kindred demonstrations are soon to be numbered with College barbarisms already out-[illegible]. Harvard has taken the lead in abolishing "hazing," and it is believed that Yale will follow suit. It will be [illegible] indeed, if Cornell University do not abandon it after the melancholy event [illegible] we noticed several days since—the death of young Leggett, son of General M. D. Leggett, Commissioner of Patents. [illegible] not clearly appear in the evidence [illegible] on the inquest whether or not at [illegible] of the accident young Leggett [illegible] through the ceremony of [illegible] into the Kappa Alpha Society, [illegible] testimony which we publish goes [illegible] that if "hazing" had not been in [illegible] on the 10th inst., a striking [illegible] might have been spared this [illegible] and the world might [illegible] in the possession of this [illegible] of brilliant promise and [illegible] character. It is to be hoped [illegible] of the sad lesson will not [illegible] who [illegible] to profit [illegible] the evi[illegible]. It will be [illegible] only.

THE BRIBERY CASES.

[illegible] is now on trial in the Circuit [illegible] a young man who confesses [illegible] been bribed by the [illegible] of the Custom House to [illegible] on election day. As will [illegible] by the evidence published elsewhere, he received $2 50 for each of these [illegible] also, that the accountant took advantage of his intoxicated [illegible] him to commit these [illegible]. And we apprehend that, if Rob[illegible] were put in the witness-box, he [illegible] say that they plied him with liquor [illegible] unable to discriminate between [illegible] and illegal voting. By some [illegible] several of the repeaters who [illegible] preceded him in the dock have escaped. We sincerely hope that no untoward fate will intervene between this [illegible] and conviction. As we have [illegible] said so we now say: we do not [illegible] the incarceration of the poor unfortunates who were entrapped so much as we wish to see the principals in these nefarious transactions convicted, and held up to public scorn and reprobation. And we are quite [illegible] that every good citizen will join in [illegible] wish. For the sake of decency and [illegible] those whose eyes are too frequently [illegible] where grave personal [illegible] political considerations sway the judicial mind—for this reason alone are we [illegible] in the case of Robert [illegible].

[illegible] the evidence before it, will the Bulletin continue to denounce District Attorney Durham for his energy in bringing [illegible] repeaters to the bar of the Circuit Court? Will the Bulletin demand with us that the whole infamous story of the [illegible] and sale of American citizenship on the 13th of October be probed to the [illegible] bottom? If it will, then let the [illegible], the Witherells, the Dennys, the [illegible] fellows and the rest of the bribing ring stand from under.

GOBLINS AND SPECTRES; MINCE PIE AND BAKED BEANS.

Again the Bulletin is haunted by visions. Scroggs and Jeffries have passed from the stage, and now some individual bearing the similitude of Dalgetty appears. The editor-in-chief confesses that his early associations were unpleasant. He says:

> The News thinks we must have known some very mean men in our day. That's just what's the matter. It was here in Oregon we met them, and mean as they were, they did receive party endorsement, and were put in high official position.

Evidently, the Bulletin is still laboring under the delusion that Senator Mitchell received a "party endorsement." But why, then, should it single the "repentant Senator" out of all the crowd of office-holders in its immediate vicinity. It is quite apparent that the zeal of the organ in defense of bigamy is flagging. We remember it said the other day about the unfortunate individual whose "mind is ineradicably corrugated," that "to obtain office, indeed, he has done that which not even the sons of woodchoppers would stoop to do." This was inexcusable in the model journalist, because when that unkind cut was administered, the associate editor of the bigamous organ was in San Francisco.

But about these horrid creations of a disordered stomach: We wish the Bulletin would indicate in what essential particulars we resemble the historic individuals who disturb his wakeful slumbers. If our patient would be cured, he must recognize us as a "sovereign leech." The gastric juices must resume their normal functions. A subsidy must be raised for building locks in his alimentary canal. His whole digestive apparatus must be reconstructed. Lastly, he must learn that the mince pie and baked beans, which the Albany Convention forced down his unwilling gullet, must be abandoned. Either this, or the maladay must run its course. In which event, look out for the whole line of infamous gentlemen from the murderous Cain down to the Mad King.

SPECIFY OR RETRACT.

In speaking of the Forest Grove unpleasantness, the Bulletin takes occasion to fling out the following false allegation concerning the OREGONIAN:

> He had seen articles fully as foul, scandalous and outrageous published day after day, and week after week in the DAILY OREGONIAN, the Weekly Mercury, the Albany Democrat and other Democratic organs.

The Bulletin here charges that the OREGONIAN has published "articles foul, scandalous and outrageous." To be sure this is but a repetition of the charge that has appeared in the Bulletin at regular intervals since the adjournment of the Albany Convention. We have tired of these vague allegations. If the OREGONIAN is not justified by good morals in the publication of any article during the period referred to it will readily confess its error. We want the specifications. Such an accusation comes with ill grace from a journal whose columns for two months past have been debased to the most shameful defense of crimes so disgusting that the model journalist would blush were they again mentioned.

Another thing: We have heard just as much about the OREGONIAN'S being a Democratic organ as we care to hear. As long as we retain that decent amount of self-respect which elevates the OREGONIAN above the putrescent ring of corruptionists, who inspire the slander referred to, so long shall we remind the Bulletin that its editor-in-chief was a rebel and a secessionist, whose paper was suppressed by the Administration because of its blatant treason; that the Bulletin was founded by a Democrat, and that its monthly deficits were for a long time met by contributions from the purse of the German bondholders; and finally, that the OREGONIAN was a consistent Union sheet at a time when—if he had received his just deserts—the present editor-in-chief of the Bulletin would have been hanged. If the Bulletin has any more suggestions to offer on the subject of "Democratic organs," they will be received with the consideration and justice which characterizes this article.

REFERRED TO THE PORTLAND POST-OFFICE.

We have received the annexed communication, and being unable to explain or remedy the difficulty complained of, it is referred to the Postmaster of this city:

MARSHLAND, COLUMBIA CO.,
October 27, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I wish to inform you that from some cause unknown to us, we did not get our OREGONIAN last week at this office. Oak Point office has not received any mail for some days, which is very strange in these times. The steamers run continually, but the mail bags fail to come. We get our supplies from Oak Point for Marshland. We are anxious to know the cause. If it is in Portland, we desire it remedied, for several reasons; but one special reason is that we cannot do without the OREGONIAN, and we want it to come Friday, for our contract with the mail carrier is to carry it on Friday, as we have only one mail per week. If we fail to get it on Friday, it will lay over one week, and if so we might as well send for a California paper to get the news as a Portland paper, and have it a week old before we can see it. MARSHLAND.

We can say, only, that the Oak Point and the Marshland packages have been mailed from this office, and that if our aggrieved subscribers have not received their OREGONIANS, the fault lies not with us.

The New York Tribune has two libel suits on hand. The first is brought by Daniel J. Downey, of whom it was said in the Tribune that as receiving clerk of the Brooklyn Health Board he had obtained large sums of money for fictitious cases of smallpox. Downey called at the office of that journal to contradict the statement, and the reporter who furnished the item was directed to supply his proofs or retract the accusation in the next number of the Tribune; but without waiting for the contradiction to appear Mr. Downey began the same day an action for libel. The Tribune apologizes, says that the charge was made on the authority of an Alderman, that the accuser could not prove what he charged, and that the reporter who accepted the information without making thorough inquiry into its truth has been discharged. The second suit is mentioned in a New York dispatch of the 25th inst., which says: "The Kings county grand jury indicted Whitelaw Reid, Charles A. Dana and Wylie, for alleged libel on Judge McCue, Downey, a clerk, and Kingsley, of Brooklyn bridge notoriety. The case of Shanks, city editor of the Tribune, was adjourned till Tuesday."

The Attorney-General has before him a curious question in the Indian service. The point involved is whether a United States Marshal can summon an Indian on his posse to arrest other Indians guilty of crimes against the Government. The case arises from an incident which occurred in the Cherokee country about a year and a half ago. The United States Marshal of Arkansas summoned among others of his posse, an Indian named Beck, and went into the Indian country to arrest certain criminals. A bloody fight ensued between the Cherokees and the United States authorities, in which several were killed and a large number wounded. The Indians have recently arrested Beck for murder, and propose to try him. It is held that not being a citizen he should not have been summoned by the Marshal, and had no right to serve on his posse. Beck's attorney has appealed to the Secretary of the Interior, and the question has been referred to the Attorney-General.

In the New York Tribune of October 17th appears a list of the creditors of the firm of George Bird Grinnell & Co., which firm went into voluntary bankruptcy on the 16th inst. Among the most important creditors we note the following: L. Von Hoffman & Co., $1,452,787 50; Bell & Smithers, $320,000; Woerishoffer & Co., $350,000; Boyd, Vincent & Co., $546,172; James B. Colgate & Co., $447,818 89; Kuhn, Loeb & Co., $362,000; L. T. Hoyt, $487,500; Brown Bros. & Co., $200,000; National Commercial Bank of Albany, $400,000; Chemical National Bank of New York City, $250,000, National Bank of Commerce, of New York City, $501,750; National Trust Company, $300,000; Philip Speyer & Co., $186,000; Scott, Strong & Co., $119,000; and Blake Bros. & Co., $259,893,75. The grand total of liabilities foots up $9,867,491.18. The estimated value of the securities held by the firm, in the form of assets, is said to be $8,000,000.

The New York Herald editorially reviews the Woman's Congress. It says: "The Congress was a woman's rights meeting, stripped of several of those characteristics which have hitherto been accepted as destructive of such meetings. There was a smaller proportion of those wonderfully constructed mortals whom we are are obliged to call men, for want of a more exact but inoffensive appellation, but whose long hair and short ideas seem to entitle them to a place not the highest in a feminine 'category.'" And, again: "Joan of Arc, in this nineteenth century, will not walk to the stake quite happy unless she is conscious that her gloves fit, and that envy of her bonnet will mingle with the remorse of the female jury that sat on her."

De Witt Talmage says, in the last number of the Christian at Work, that the Indians first called the site on which New York was built, Manahachtanienks. In English it means, "The place where they all got drunk." "We are glad," says Mr. Talmage, "that it has been changed, for though New York has several thousand unlicensed grog shops, we consider the name inappropriate, although, if intemperance continues to increase as rapidly for the next hundred years as during the last twenty years, the time will come when New York may appropriately take its old Indian nomenclature."

It is inspiriting and reviving to our waning faith in the frail humanity of public officers, to be able to turn occasionally from "the old story" of defalcation and theft to such a bright and shining example of old Puritan honesty as is to be noticed in the following from the Springfield Republican:

> Charles W. Lovett, who resigned his position of Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth, Tuesday, had held his office fifty years, serving through the administrations of Govs. Eustis, Lincoln, Davis, Everett, Morton, Briggs, Boutwell, Clifford, Washburn, Gardner, Banks, Andrew, Bullock, Claflin and Washburn. Mr. Lovett has been considered a model public officer; and his resignation is owing to ill-health. He is succeeded by Benjamin C. Piper, who has been for twenty years first clerk to the Secretary of State.

A correspondent of a London paper reports M. Thiers as saying, recently, concerning the trial of Marshal Bazaine: "This affair is unfortunate for France. It should never have been allowed to arrive at the point where it now stands; far better to have stifled it altogether. Marshal Bazine is in possession of crushing documents which are a disgrace to our army; whole regiments refused to march, under the walls of Metz, at the moment when the business was to force a passage through the enemy's lines."

A NUMEROUS CONSECRATION.—A Philadelphia dispatch of Oct. 18th says:

> To-morrow morning, 105 Roman Catholic churches, comprehended in the diocese of Philadelphia, will be consecrated to the Sacred Heart of Christ. About the same grand and imposing ceremonies will be observed as were recently held in the Cathedral of this city. The archdiocese of Baltimore will also consecrate its churches, schools, seminaries and charities to the Sacred Heart at the same time.

DEATH OF CLOUD, THE OARSMAN.—A New Orleans dispatch of Oct. 10th, states that Jos. C. Cloud, the oarsman, who started from Philadelphia some three months since to row to New Orleans by canals and rivers, died on Tuesday last five miles above Plaquemine. Cloud was found in his boat in an almost exhausted condition Monday, and died the next day. His diary shows he had been suffering with what is termed heavy shakes for some days before his death.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE SISTERS OF CHARITY

OF THE

HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE,

Respectfully inform the Public that the

ANNUAL FANCY FAIR

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THEIR

Orphan Asylums,

Will take place on the evenings of the 28th, 29th and 30th October,

AT

METROPOLIS HALL,

VANCOUVER, W. T.

THE ENCOURAGEMENT WHICH THE SISTERS have heretofore received, makes them hope that on this, more than on any former occasion, they have a right to expect from their numerous friends and patrons a most generous response to their earnest appeal in behalf of the SEVENTY LITTLE WAIFS depending on them for food and raiment. They think it superfluous at this time to allude to the heavy expenses they are now incurring in the erection of a shelter needed to carry out their charitable purposes, and as many have thereby received an increase in their worldly stores, it is confidently hoped that they will generously come forward and share it liberally with the poor destitute Orphans.

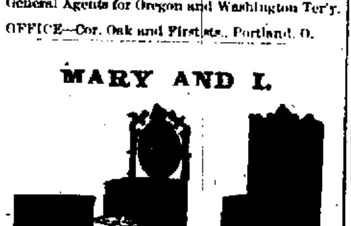
MARY AND I.



"Twas evening in May, and the soft zephyr sighed
Through branches low bending above
My Mary and I, as we wander'd along,
And whisper'd of beauty and love.
"We'll make us a nest like the birdlings," I said.
"And never shall part any more."
"Oh yes," she replied, "and can furnish it nice,
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"Fair creature, there's many a wealthier man
Would gladly have you for a bride,
But no one can love you more fondly than I—
My treasure, my beauty, and pride!
Oh, had I a mansion, with carpets of gold
And silver, I'd cover the floor!"
But, smiling, she said, "You can purchase the best
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

"I'll spread you a couch upon which to recline
When evening shall call us to rest,
Of the fleeciest down"—"but," she said with a sigh,
"I like a hair mattrass the best."
"Then so it shall be, love; and tables inlaid,
And seats from some far distant shore."
"Oh no," she exclaimed, "They have elegant sets
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"But, Mary, alas, I must sadly confess
My means are but slender as yet;
To furnish a house in the style you demand
Would hopelessly plunge me in debt—
To ask you to share my poor lodgings and board
Is something that I should deplore."
She said with a smile, "You can buy very cheap
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE."

"To-morrow, then, love, let us journey along
To the corner of Alder and Front street—
'Tis numbers 98 and 100, (river side,)
Where lovers so happily meet,
How many fond souls might be severed for years
From those they so fondly adore,
Were it not for the beautiful furniture they have,
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

They have marble top bureaus and elegant sets
Of Bedroom furniture now,
With center tables and what-nots and mirrors great,
And an endless variety of chairs, not a few.
They do a cash business, and with money in hand
To purchase every style of furniture lower,
Are able to supply all the public demand
At HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

We went, Mary and I, and can I ever forget
The pleasure that beamed in her face,
As she gazed at the marvels of beauty displayed
In HURGREN & SHINDLER'S place!
We furnished our home in an elegant style;
Been married a twelve month or more,
And Mary is singing this song to her babe,
Of HURGREN & SHINDLER'S STORE.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 30, 1873.

CITY.

FEMALE COUNSEL.—The gentler sex have at length a recognition at the bar. Yesterday morning a case came up for trial in the Police Court. The defendant, who is a handsome, [illegible] maiden, was charged with a simple assault. Although abundantly able to procure competent counsel, the mother of the damsel concluded to conduct the defense. The scene following was too rich to be lost. What the old lady lacked in knowledge of law she more than compensated for in garrulousness. She put her cross questions to the witnesses thick and fast; striding over the long established usages of law and practice regulating the examination of witnesses. In vain did the District Attorney expostulate that the questions were leading, irrelevant, or had no connection with the case. The counsel for the defense was no sooner headed off by one ruling than she would rush into something else equally absurd. At length the loquacious lady lawyer was induced to sit down and maintain silence—at least until the Court could catch breath to pronounce judgment in the matter. Notwithstanding the eloquence of the counsel, the fair defendant was fined five dollars and costs. The case presented some very amusing phases, and was one of the most laughable Police Court incidents we have witnessed.

EXEMPT CERTIFICATE.—Sample sheets of the new design of the new Exempt Certificates have been received by Mr. Jos. Buchtel. They are about 15x20 inches in size, and the design, executed by Mr. Charles B. Talbot, of this city, is very handsome. In the center is the blank certificate with spaces for insertion of name, dates, etc. Surrounding this is a scroll work, outside of which are cuts showing the firemen on the lofty edifices, and on the left a picture representing the descent of a fireman with a child in his arms, the mother at the foot of the ladder, looking up anxiously with outstretched arms for her darling infant. The picture on the right represents a "Vet." who has been brought from the burning building in a disabled condition. At each corner are cuts of a steamer and hand engine, taken from photographs of engines now in use in this city, which will be known upon examination. On the lower margin is a view of Mount Hood, [illegible] Bierstadt's grand painting of that noble old mountain. The whole is very appropriate indeed, and reflects credit upon the designer and engraver. We understand that the number ordered, some eight hundred, will arrive in a few days from the lithographic establishment in San Francisco, where they are being printed.

HEAVILY FINED.—Lee Quong, the Chinaman accused of the larceny of a chisel, was arraigned yesterday morning in the Police Court. His guilt appearing evident, the Court imposed a fine of $100. It is quite probably that the Chinaman will not be able to raise such a large sum and will have to go to jail for a period of fifty days. This sentence at first glance appears harsh and far in [illegible] of the magnitude of the crime committed. The price of the article stolen will not exceed two dollars; but when it is known that the defendant has been [illegible] before the court, and acquired the reputation of being a common thief, the sentence is in strict conformity with [illegible]. As much as anything else, the Court [illegible] Lee Quong a good lesson; and the [illegible] to serve as a warning to that class of petty thieves who purloin small articles at every opportunity and hasten to sell them for a trifling sum. The Court took occasion at the same time to offer some pertinent suggestions to all second-hand dealers about the purchase of articles for nominal sums from strange [illegible] or unusual circumstances. If such advice was more closely observed, there would be less trouble in the future.

SOMETHING FOR A[illegible].—At the store of G. L. DePrans can be seen a laughable picture which has been executed by some genius who cannot [illegible] feelings of spite toward the [illegible] terminus, Tacoma. The scene represents the United States man-of-war S[illegible] lying in the harbor vainly sounding for anchorage. The picture shows the length of the sounding line, but fails to indicate just where the bottom can be found, even at the end of [illegible]. Swimming about in the [illegible] can be seen a crowd of hungry monsters, which are [illegible] to devour whatever [illegible]. These voracious [illegible] Jay Cooke, the Northern Pacific Railroad, the Puget Sound Co., and several other corporations, all of which are intent on gobbling each other up. The picture was drawn on a large scale, and has been photographed. As a pure [illegible] of fancy it is quite cleverly executed, and is well worth looking at.

MUTTON.—Long has the [illegible] stood uncontradicted that the Webfooters are enormous [illegible] eaters; that they consume more [illegible] than almost any other locality of equal population. While pleading guilty to the charge to a certain extent, we must say that the people of Oregon are not alone in their carnivorous tendencies. British Columbia and Puget Sound, with all their fish and oyster-eating propensities, can "stand the Webfoot off" in the [illegible] eating line. We have no more accurate method of determining this grave fact than by noticing the immense numbers of sheep and cattle which leave here every week to supply the markets over there. Yesterday morning over three hundred head of sheep were [illegible] to Kalama, and from thence will be driven to Victoria.

OSAGE ORANGE FRUIT.—The first osage orange fruit which we have seen in this State, we observed yesterday in the office of Justice Ryan. It was found a few days ago near the city, where a party, just through from California, had camped for the night. This specimen is about the size of a goose egg, of a bright green hue, and [illegible] the outside coat surrounding the shell of the common American walnut. The outside surface is very irregular and uneven, presenting a chopped appearance. Although the shrub producing the fruit is extensively [illegible] in Oregon as a quick-set hedge, we have not heard of an instance where it has borne any. To those who have never seen the fruit, the specimen cannot be devoid of interest.

COMPLIMENTARY.—The San Francisco Occident of the 23d inst. says: Rev. Dr. Lindsley, of Portland, Oregon, supplied Central Tabernacle Church last Sunday. The congregation, we learn, was larger than it has been at any time previously since Dr. Cunningham left for the East. Dr. Lindsley's very instructive and attractive discourses are producing a very [illegible] in our city. He is very popular with us and his noble, thoughtful sermons greatly [illegible] to help on the work of the Gospel to which his life is devoted. The Church in Portland is to be congratulated upon having such a pastor.

AN OWLISH PRESENT.—A very large owl was received at W. F. & Co.'s office on Tuesday evening from Walla Walla. The bird was sent by Prof. C. B. Plummer, and is directed to the "Bohemian Club" at San Francisco. It has been dead-headed thus far, and will no doubt be furnished with a pass below. A queer gift to present to a club. The only question is, "What will they do with it?"

NUMBER OF MARRIAGES.—Before the present year expires the matrimonial records in the County Clerk's office will make a very respectable showing. Since the first of January there has been issued 108 marriage licenses, and at the present rate that number will probably be increased to 150. In this connection we regret to remark that the divorce market for the past year has been quite active.

REMAINS BROUGHT OVER.—In the Territorial items published yesterday in the OREGONIAN, was an account of the fatal scalding of a little son of Mr. Gustave Rosenthal, a resident of Olympia. The remains of the unfortunate victim were conveyed to this city for interment, there being no Jewish cemetery at that place. The body arrived here last evening, and will be buried to-day.

RESUMMONED.—We learn that an order will be issued by the Circuit Court requiring the grand jury to again convene to-morrow. This is for the purpose of enabling that body to take judicial notice of and to investigate some new criminal matters.

TRI-WEEKLY TRIPS.—The water being too low to bring full loads of wheat from Wallula, the [illegible] will [illegible] tri-weekly [illegible] connecting at the [illegible] Wallula.

JUVENILE FIRE COMPANY.—We learn that there is a juvenile fire company organized in the upper part of the city. There are 14 members, ranging in years from 10 to 14 years. These boys are said to be well organized, disciplined, and always ready on short notice when the bells tap an alarm. They are pretty well supplied with the required facilities, having a force pump, which will throw a stream over an ordinary dwelling house with ease. At the time of the great August fire it is said that these boy firemen saved a building from destruction.

GONE BELOW.—Owing to the death of his sister, Mr. John Kenny, chief operator in the Railroad Company's telegraph office at East Portland, will go to San Francisco, where he will hereafter follow his profession. The situation vacated by him in East Portland will be filled by Mr. Fish, who has been in the Company's office at this place for some time past.

FIRST STREET TUNNELED.—The present good weather is being used by the contractor of the Stark street sewer to the best possible advantage. On Tuesday night a number of Chinamen were employed from dusk to dawn in tunneling under First street. This work was completed yesterday afternoon, and the tile was being laid all during last night.

AMOUNT OF TREASURE.—Since the 20th of last July, $920,000 of treasure has been received through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express at this place from San Francisco. This sum was received by bankers and principal merchants alone. During that period a number of small amounts were received, which will swell the amount to more than $1,000,000.

NO QUORUM.—There was no meeting of the Common Council last evening in consequence of the absence of a quorum. The following members were present: Burton, Hoyt, Moreland and Story. His Honor, Mayor Failing, was also present. The following were the absent members: Besser, Caywood, Hill, Lyon and Russell.

SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT.—The members of the consolidated posts—Canby and Baker—G. A. R. will give a social entertainment at their hall this evening. Members, and those receiving tickets, are expected to attend. A large number of invitations have been extended, and a very pleasant time is anticipated.

LAST SHIPMENT.—The last installment of iron for the State Capitol was shipped from the Willamette Iron Works yesterday. This completes the contract for the present year. Work has been suspended for the winter, and no more iron will be needed until some time next year.

PRESBYTERY OF OREGON.—A regular meeting of the Presbytery of Oregon will be held with the Presbyterian Church of Portland, on the first Thursday of November next at 7:30 P. M. The members are invited to assemble at the house of the Pastor on the day of the meeting.

SOCIABLES.—The sociables held last evening at the First Baptist Church and at the hall of the North Portland M. E. Sunday School, proved very pleasant occasions. Both were well attended, and those who attended enjoyed an evening of unalloyed social intercourse.

TIME OF SAILING.—The steamer J. L. Stephens will sail from this port for San Francisco to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock precisely. Passengers should note this and be in readiness.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Building continues active.

Streets are becoming dusty.

See WEEKLY OREGONIAN to-morrow.

Low water is still troubling shippers.

Rain is much desired among the farmers.

Large number of vessels in the two rivers.

The laying of new sidewalks was never so lively.

Large quantities of hay arriving from the Columbia river lands.

Dressmakers and milliners are busy now that the festive season approacheth.

Bishop Peck recently delivered a lecture to the ladies of the various churches of San Francisco.

We saw two reporters interviewing the contractor of the Stark street sewer yesterday, so we may expect a fresh item about that [illegible] work shortly.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL.

John Wilson's circus at Oakland and Roseburg this week.

Madame Anna Bishop and Troupe were at Los Angeles on the 22d inst.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Coriell and W. R. Fortier, "the author and light comedian," according to a local paper, closed a season at Eureka, Cal., on the 18th inst.

The Los Angeles Herald has this. Mr. Jas. Barrows is up for a benefit to-night at the Theater. Mr. Barrows has made as many friends in private as he has through his excellent acting, and to-night they will have an opportunity of showing their regard. He possesses a fund of quiet humor which is never exaggerated, and there is no doubt that he will in a few years hold a high place among American comedians.

NEW BOOKS.

The following new books have just been added to the Portland Library:

Nina's Atonement; by Christian Reid.

The Fair God; or The Last of the Tzins. A Tale of the Conquest of Mexico; by Lew Wallace.

Old Merry's Travels on the Continent; with numerous illustrations.

A Journey to the Center of the Earth; from the French of Jules Verne.

Thoreau: the Poet Naturalist; with memorial verses; by William Ellery Channing.

South Sea Idyls; by Charles Warren Stoddard.

Oldport Days; by Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

Literature and Dogma: An essay towards a better apprehension of the Bible; by Matthew Arnold, D.C.L.

Memorials of a Quiet Life; by Augustus J. C. Hare—2 vols.

Politics and Mysteries of Life Insurance; by Elizur Wright.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Observe new ads to-day.

Mr. J. A. Strowbridge has returned to his old stand 141 Front street, where he has a larger and finer storeroom filled with entirely new goods. See the advertisement under new to-day.

The manfish, pronounced by several medical gentlemen of Salem, in a certificate, that it is all that is said of it, is now on exhibition at the rooms over Schneer Bros.

[illegible], Lowenstein & Co., recently burned out by the great fire, have removed their Stock of Carpets, Curtains, Coverings, etc. to No. 87 FRONT STREET, between Washington and Alder, where they can be found, selling off the entire Stock AT COST, in order to start soon in new quarters with an Entire New Stock. All persons indebted to them are requested to call at their temporary place of business and settle up.

Don't go home to-night without having previously made arrangements with John O'Neil & Co. to do up a fall suit in their own peculiar style, which is quite popular, as the elegant suits daily seen on the streets from this house will attest. Mr. Scharf, of the firm, has been to San Francisco. That is sufficient. Be sure to call and select from the latest arrivals, which are new and novel. The place is 93 First street.

The variety of Foreign and Domestic Fruits to be seen at W. ASCHENHEIM'S, 120 First Street, is immense for this time of the year. Go and see it.

ILLEGAL VOTING.

TRIAL OF ROBERT BRUCE.

In the Circuit Court, Judge Upton presiding, the trial of Robert Bruce came up yesterday afternoon. The indictment charges Bruce with voting illegally in East Portland precinct, in this county, at the election held Oct. 13th, said Bruce having voted at the same election in another precinct. The testimony for the State, the substance of which we give below, certainly shows the defendant to have been

A MONOPOLIST

In the exercise of the elective franchise, on a small scale, as the facts detailed by the witnesses and the poll-books show that he voted five times during the day. His confession to the same point was also put in evidence and corroborated the testimony of the living witnesses and the record of the poll-books.

THE JURY

Was obtained without much difficulty, only one man being challenged off for bias and four peremptorily. The panel consists of G. W. Murray, Richard Bird, H. M. Swafford, Joseph Howell, T. J. Cone, Wm. Braden, Ed. Hinde, T. J. Dryer, S. Austin, Isaac Levy, M. M. Southworth and M. Neumann.

The case was opened by Mr. Thompson, who is associated with Mr. Durham, Prosecuting Attorney in the conduct of the case on behalf of the State. Mr. Caples, who is associated in the defense with Messrs. Chas. W. Parrish and C. A. Ball, opened the case for defendant.

A. E. BORTHWICK,

A Deputy County Clerk, was the first witness called, and he simply identified certain poll books as being those on file in the office of the County Clerk.

The Prosecuting Attorney then offered in evidence the poll books of South Portland Precinct, and particularly the name of "Robert Bruce," under the head of "Names of Electors." The counsel for defendant objected on the ground that the indictment charged the crime to have been committed in East Portland Precinct, and a list of the names of those who had voted in any other precinct could not be maintained as testimony under such indictment. The objection was argued somewhat at length by Messrs. Caples and Ball, and overruled by the Court, who stated that the objection should have been taken by demurrer; that the Court took judicial knowledge of the elections held in the State and what they were held for, what offices were vacant and what offices were to be filled at any election. The defendant by his counsel excepted to the ruling of the Court. The poll books were then presented, as were also those of Morrison, North East Portland and East Portland precincts, defendant's counsel excepting to the admission of all except that of East Portland in which precinct the crime was charged in the indictment to have been committed. Each of these poll books were, however, permitted to go to the jury. They each contain the name of "Robert Bruce" as one of the electors.

J. K. MERCER,

Policeman, was the next witness called. He stated that he was at Morrison precinct on election day and saw defendant there. Defendant came to the polls with a stranger whom the witness afterwards found out to be named Johnson. Johnson and Bruce, after standing about the polls for fifteen or twenty minutes, came up and voted. Bruce voted right after Johnson.

R. K. JOHNSON

Testified substantially: I know defendant; saw him in South Portland precinct on election day. He came up and I handed him a ticket. Another man standing by, also handed him a ticket. He walked off a short distance with some one and then came back and voted. This was before noon. I have had a conversation with defendant before his arrest in regard to his voting. The first time I talked with him was one week ago this evening. He told me he had voted more than once, but had voted under the influence of whisky and bribery of other parties.

On the cross examination, witness stated that it might have been after 11 A. M. when he saw defendant vote, but believed it was not. The conversation with defendant was at the residence of witness.

F. R. NEAL,

The third witness, was one of the clerks of election in North East Portland. Knows defendant; saw him at the polls in that precinct on election day. Defendant voted in that precinct in the afternoon, after one o'clock. On cross examination, witness stated that he had known defendant about one year, and that defendant remained about the polls in North East Portland some fifteen or twenty minutes.

HILLARY CASON

Was a Judge of Election in East Portland Precinct. Saw defendant there on election day. He came there and voted, about the middle of the afternoon, about half-past two or three o'clock. The testimony of Mr. Raffety, another of the judges of the same precinct, was substantially the same as that given by Mr. Cason.

C. F. SCHOPPE

Testified in substance as follows: I am a policeman. I know defendant; have heard statements made by him concerning his voting at the late election. I don't know whether he was under control of an officer at the time the statements were made or not. I don't know that he had been locked up at the time. It was a quarter of an hour after I first saw him in the back room of the city jail, before he made the statements which I heard. The conversation in which the statements were made, was with the grand jury. I think the full panel was present. I think there were seven. He stated to the grand jury that he had voted five times; that he had voted at South Portland, Morrison, North Portland, North East Portland, and East Portland precincts, and that he had been paid for voting at each place.

J. H. CONGLE,

A member of the grand jury, testified that he had seen defendant, but was not acquainted with him. Saw him in the back room of the city jail. He was not under arrest. Defendant at that time acknowledged that he had voted five times, and had received $2 50 for each vote he cast. Witness said defendant had named some of those who had paid him for voting, but witness could only recollect the names of two.

As the witness was apparently about to give the names of the parties who had bribed the defendant, the Court informed him that he need not give any names. So Mr. Congle's testimony closed and the attorneys for the State rested their case.

MOTION FOR NONSUIT.

Mr. Ball, of counsel for defendant, then moved the court for a judgment of nonsuit, and that the defendant be discharged, on the ground that the State had not proved that the election was a legal election, as provided by law.

The motion was argued by counsel and taken under advisement by the Court.

THE DEFENDANT

in this case is quite youthful in appearance, being very little over twenty years of age, of light complexion, with the beard of manhood just beginning to grow on his face, which is a very pleasant and honest one to look at. His manner during the trial was almost entirely impassive. His physiognomy denotes considerable intelligence, and an ordinarily close observer would denominate him a "bright boy." Few would guess his age at over twenty years.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, J.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 29, 1873.

Frank Haeberty, juror, excused until the 1st of next month.

State vs Julia Gradupie alias Bird, larceny; cause tried and submitted.

John McKinnon, admitted to citizenship.

State vs Robert Bruce, illegal voting; jury impaneled and cause on trial.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

A grand final game of base ball on Saturday, in which all the best players will take part. Each side will be led by captains whose judgment is considered the best to look after the players. Lovers of the sport may anticipate a closely contested game on this occasion. We expect to note a number of "goose eggs," and to figure up a small score on each side.

If you are contemplating a purchase of clothing bear in mind one thing, and that is, to buy a good article and at the same time to pay a low price for it. BECK & WALDMAN, the popular clothiers, sell the best, charge a low price and always keep a large stock. Their stock of youth's clothing is not to be excelled anywhere. Parents should remember this.

COUGHS.—A Medicinal Preparation in the form of a lozenge is the most convenient. "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" allay irritation which induces coughing, giving relief in Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Influenza, Consumptive and Asthmatic complaints.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.

The Agricultural Society held a meeting last Saturday, but failed to elect officers.

The proceeds of Chaplain Van Horn's lecture on Monday evening was about $50.

It is reported that the steamer Vancouver will commence running on the Portland-Vancouver line next Monday.

The County Commissioners' Court will convene Monday next. It will be an important session, as there is a great deal of business to be transacted.

The Sisters' Fancy Fair commenced on Tuesday evening. The spacious hall was well filled, and the raffling spirited. The Twenty-first Infantry band enlivened the entertainment with choice music. The third evening (Thursday) promises to be the best.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

U. S. vs John Smith; larceny; five months in county jail and to pay cost.

Territory vs John Conley; verdict, not guilty; defendant discharged.

CIVIL CASES.

Geo. W. Johnson et al. vs Cascade Railroad Company; continued.

Matilda Holstein vs Wm. Holstein; divorce; granted.

S. J. Huntington, et al., administrator, vs Cowlitz county; continued.

Geo. Birchard vs Thomas Yoss; judgment for return of cattle.

Michael O'Connell vs Henry Wick et al.; decree of foreclosure of mortgage.

John McCarty vs S. S. Hawkins et al.; decree of foreclosure of mortgage.

Wm. C. Hazard vs John D. Woodward and Sarah C. Woodward; decree of foreclosure of mortgage.

R. H. Stevens vs Andrew J. Stevens; continued.

Minerva Fulherson vs Peter Fulherson; decree of divorce; custody of children within the jurisdiction to mother.

Wm. C. Hazard vs Helena H. Potter; decree of foreclosure of mortgage.

Have you inflammatory sore throat, stiff joints, or lameness from any cause whatever? Have you rheumatic or other pains in any part of the body? If so, use Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, internally and externally.

Many persons suffer with sick headache and nervous headache, usually induced by costiveness, indigestion, &c. Such persons will find relief if not cure, by keeping the bowels open with small doses of Parson's Purgative Pills.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU is the great family medicine for diseases of the kidneys and kindred organs. Full directions accompany each bottle. Look out for counterfeits. "A Dose in Time," &c.

If "a stich in time saves nine," it is equally certain that a dose of a healthy tonic like Hostetter's Stomach Bitters taken at this inclement season of the year may save many an unpleasant twinge. A dose, however, is not sufficient. The system should be thoroughly charged with this genial vegetable stimulant and invigorant. Commence taking it with the commencement of the atmospheric changes which distinguish the winter from the autumn. Thereby you will avoid those disturbances of the digestive and secretive organs, and those painful [illegible] of the muscles and the [illegible] tion, which often render the period of the year which should be the [illegible] a season of [illegible] and disquietude. The extraordinary vigor and regularity which this exhilarating restorative imparts to the most important functions of the body, render it an invaluable remedy for nervous debility, [illegible] tion, indigestion, torpidity of the liver, and intermittent fevers.

"PAINFUL SCENES."

The Tichborne trial has been a trial to the patience of all who have felt it to be a duty to follow the evidence for the defense. For several weeks the testimony has been exceedingly dull and uninteresting. Usually the witnesses have [illegible] old officers, soldiers and servants in the Ca[illegible] at the time Roger Tichborne was in that corps; and they have been called [illegible] to give the evidence of their belief that the [illegible] and Roger are identical. Most of [illegible] the claimant and put, or thought [illegible] test questions to him, but a comparison of [illegible] testimony with that given at the previous trials leaves it in doubt whether [illegible] not merely submitting to be [illegible] by the big claimant, except when [illegible] ions the true answers to which he had [illegible] been in a position to learn. [illegible] or twice Dr. Kenealy has broken into the [illegible] line of evidence. Witnesses have [illegible] brought forward to swear that they knew Arthur Orton in Australia, and that this man is not he. But the masterly cross-examination of Mr. Hawkins has left nothing of this evi- [illegible] that is likely to influence the jury. The [illegible] of this [illegible] have been so sadly out as to [illegible] and places that there is good reason to [illegible] whether anything of what they have [illegible] is true.

But [illegible] are not the "painful scenes" to [illegible] our caption refers. This trial has been [illegible] by some of the most extraordinary [illegible] between the counsel and between [illegible] the lawyers ever heard in a [illegible]. One of these scenes occurred [illegible] examination of Colonel Norbury, in [illegible] of which Dr. Kenealy managed to [illegible] Mr. Hawkins, the judge, and one of the [illegible] as to the envelope of a [illegible] to the colonel by the [illegible]. Colonel Norbury said he had mislaid it. There was then a discussion [illegible] the envelope in question had [illegible] at the former trial. What followed is [illegible] by the London Times:

[illegible] finding a [illegible] in which it [illegible] that [illegible] envelope had been handed [illegible] the colonel to indentify— [illegible] that this was the envelope [illegible] insisted that this was the [illegible] it was handed to Mr. [illegible] Mr. Hawkins upon this declared [illegible] not [illegible] but that it was the envelope [illegible] which was there alluded [illegible] said the envelope was, by the [illegible] the hands of Mr. Hawkins. [illegible] A PRAIRIE FIRE.

[illegible], Neb., Oct. 17.—The report of fearful [illegible] of life by the prairie fire proves [illegible]. On Tuesday the fire ran over a [illegible] of the country. Little children [illegible] from school were overtaken by the [illegible] All efforts were made to escape, but [illegible] not. Mrs. Stillman, mother of two [illegible] saw the danger and rushed to their [illegible] and was so badly burned that she [illegible] evening. A little girl, daughter of [illegible] Beckley, and a son of C. C. Clark were [illegible] to death on the spot. Three others [illegible] died, and it is doubtful if any re- [illegible] The fire was over a mile long and the [illegible] twelve feet high, the grass being very [illegible] of tons of grain and hay in [illegible] destroyed by the same fire. The question of resumption of specie payment is now being discussed—President Grant having declared himself strongly in favor of it. He further states that if he were now engaged in writing his annual message to Congress, he should recommend positive authority to release the $44,000,000 reserve a free banking law with the same protection to bill holders as now a repeal of the clause requiring a reserve for the protection of depositors—a percentage of the other reserve to be in gold and that increased in regular rates until the whole reserve would be in gold. This could be safely effected by requiring such institutions to safe a whole or large percentage of gold interest paid to banks on their bonds held by the Treasurer of the United States for the protection of bill holders. He also favored an absolute prohibition of the payment of interest on deposits. He would recommend a Postoffice Bank. This would give an institution in which everybody would have great confidence, within reach of every one who could approach a money order Postoffice. An exchange thinks he also should recommend the payment of 4 per cent to depositors and the conversion of deposits either into outstanding United States bonds, or into new 4½ per cent. bonds, and the taking up of a corresponding amount of those outstanding.

One thing is certain. Although the tone of Wall street has been shaken, it is not shattered. Many a fortune yet waits on prudent speculation, and he who is shrewd will do well to watch the hours now passing. In less than sixty days, Congress will have met, considered and, perhaps, settled various vexed financial questions. Already the crisis of our fever has passed. The country is convalescing. The report comes to us to-day from Cincinnati that the banks of that city have resumed the payment of all demands in currency. Other cities will speedily follow the example. Money is everywhere becoming cheaper and more accessible. The Bank of England sends to America to-day nearly two more millions of dollars. Thus good tidings pour in from all quarters, showing the gradual process of recuperation and the influence of returning confidence.

Miscellaneous.

The Captain of the British bark Prospero, lately wrecked off the coast of Brazil, writes to the consignees under date of September 12th, that 460 ton of the cargo had been saved, consisting chiefly of Tinplate, Earthenware and Glass; that the vessel was full of water and would be sold on the 20th September.

The Corn crop of the United States last year, according to the [illegible] of the Department of Agriculture, was 1,[illegible],000,000 bushels. The Department this year [illegible] the crop about one-fourth below an average. The Chicago Drovers' Journal places the crop, with the surplus of old on hand, at three-fourths of that of last year. It advises farmers to feed liberally to stock during the winter.

During the month of September, twenty-six mining [illegible], amounting to $478,600, were levied in San Francisco, all to become delinquent in October. During [illegible], six companies have paid [illegible],500 in dividends.

The total shipment of freight over the Central Pacific Railroad, [illegible] during the month of September, was 10,014,[illegible] pounds—embracing 2,912,174 pounds of wool, 1,318,500 pounds of canned goods, 1,205,000 pounds of tea and 915,000 pounds green fruits.

Within a few months there will be two British lines of steamers running to San Francisco, one from Hongkong, and the other from Sydney, by way of Auckland, Fiji and Honolulu. In view of this fact, it is thought the American line to Honolulu will not be reopened.
